

McFadden, Javens, Receive Mention For All Southern California Team

Johnny McFadden, end, and Jack Javens, half back, Torrance high school football stars, and coaches' choice for All-Marine League team, were the only Marine Leaguers to be mentioned in connection with the mythical All-Southern California prep team announced this week.

Johnny and Jack received honorable mention in their positions, McFadden being rated sixth and Javens second among those named in this list. This is the second time, since the All Southern California team has been selected, that a Marine League boy has had any mention, and the local football squad and Coach Donahue feel well satisfied to gain even this small recognition. Milton Everett made the grade in 1933.

Competition for the honor is keen among players of the larger schools so that the small outfits are practically ruled out. It is evident that the two Torrance lads had plenty on the ball to get even an honorable mention under the circumstances.

The Pacific League, of which the Marine League was formerly a part, placed seven men under the honorable mention list: Fickes, South Gate end; Ascoles, Banning end; Tyler, Banning quarterback; La Form, Bell guard; Thyberg, Bell center; Davis, Bell halfback; and Vance, Riis halfback.

Dick Jones, of Bell, was the only Pacific League man to place better than honorable mention. He was named tackle on the second team.

New Ski Runs Have Been Added To Facilities At Yosemite

Skiiing enthusiasts are looking forward to a grand season of their favorite sport at Yosemite with old ski runs improved and many new ones added, according to the touring department of the National Automobile Club. The more important ones which will be available this winter are:

Badger Pass meadows to Chinquapin, 2 1/4 miles, downhill drop of 1,300 feet.

Badger Pass meadows to Yosemite Valley, 10 miles, 4,000-foot drop.

From the top of a high dome above the ski house and reached by Yosemite's new "Upski" lift, to Strawberry creek, downhill only, 2,000-foot drop in almost five miles.

From the dome to Bishop creek, 6 miles, downhill only and a 3,000-foot loss of altitude.

From top of dome to Bridal Veil meadows, downhill only, 2 miles with over a 1,000-foot loss of altitude.

These runs give a complete variety of ski terrain and provide thrills for all. In addition, there are numerous slopes of varying degrees of steepness, providing practice for both beginners and experts. The new mechanical lift, known as the "Upski," will transport skiers from the ski house to the start of the longer runs.

Horse Race Betting Will Be Licensed

In anticipation of the opening of the winter racing season at Santa Anita, the city council of Hawthorne has under consideration an ordinance to license persons engaging in the business of acting as agents for the placing of wagers. In other words, bookmaking. The ordinance was introduced last week, and was expected to be passed last Monday night. A license fee of $500 will be charged. The ordinance was proposed, following the application of R. D. Kenmore to operate such an agency at 128 N. Hawthorne avenue, in connection with the Hawthorne Amusement Company.

Haslam Makes Letter At Fresno

Kenneth Haslam, of Torrance, guard on Coach Flint Hanner's freshman football eleven, was one of the 30 men to be voted pigskins awards at the Fresno State College this week.

The freshman team, although their season was not impressive, showed a powerful forward wall, and the varsity coaches are looking forward to acquiring some promising material next year. The line was the hardest hit department of Coach Harris' Bulldogs by graduation and the varsity mentor welcomes this new crop of linemen.

Haslam, who is five feet eight inches tall and weighs 153 pounds, should give some varsity man a good fight for his position next year.

about horses than I do about girls." Coucel's contract calls for him to maintain a weight of less than 110 pounds, and he has to keep his weight down just like a movie star or he will lose his contract. He weighs 105 pounds and stands five feet two inches tall. He has black curly hair and is a good looking young chap, as well as a modest one.

With a good season this year, Coucel will probably win the coveted honor of all jockeys, the national championship for 1936.

Olympic Fire For '36 Games Due By Relay

Runners to Carry Torch From Mount Olympus To Berlin

By ROBERT BEST United Press Staff Correspondent

VIENNA. (U.P.)—The Olympic fire which will burn during the 1936 Olympiad at Berlin will be kindled by the sun.

The actual fire which will flare in Berlin will be kindled by a torch brought from Mount Olympus in Greece by relay runners. But the torch, it was learned, will receive its original light from the sun.

During conference between representatives of countries which provide the relay runners, someone suggested the idea that the torch should be kindled by the sun.

According to plans mapped months ago, the first runner would receive the torch at midnight of July 20, and proceed with it to runner number two.

Due to the new idea, the program is expected to be pushed up to noon of July 20 to make it possible to have the torch lighted by rays from the sun focussed through a burning glass.

During the time preceding the start of the marathon relay, Greek pagans and others will offer prayers to Apollo, mythical Greek god of light, to provide brilliant rays on July 20.

During the Pythian Games, held in Hellas in ancient times, the procedure always was to light the fires for the games from the sun. But little has been heard of such a practice during modern times.

While the torches are being carried to Berlin by runners from seven countries, an olive branch—the age-old symbol of Olympic fraternity—will be flown to Berlin. The branch will be carried by Spiridon Louis, marathon winner of the first modern Olympics held in Athens in 1896.

Veteran May Run

Louis will arrive in Berlin shortly before the last marathon relay runner swings into the Olympic Village outside Berlin. If Louis' health permits, he will take the torch and carry it the last few hundred yards to the Olympic Stadium where it will be used to light the fire which will glow throughout the games. Seven countries will provide runners for the relay—Greece, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Austria, Czechoslovakia and Germany.

The torches will be made of magnesium mixtures which will continue to burn despite possible winds or rain. Samples already have been sent by Germany to the runners who now are using them in test races.

Harvel's Move Today to Fine New Quarters

Filling Station and New Lubricating Equipment Are Added to Services

Harvel's—pioneer automobile battery and tire shop, formerly located at 1618 Cravens avenue, moved today to their new location at 1530 Cravens avenue, opposite the Torrance fire station, it was announced by Harvel Guttenfelder, proprietor.

The new quarters, which are located at the corner of Cravens and Marcelina avenues, were purchased several months ago by Mr. Guttenfelder. While all improvements planned for the larger location are not yet completed, Harvel's stated this morning that they are in position to take care of all their customary services to motorists and in addition are operating a filling station, with a complete line of gasolines, oils and greases. The latest type scientific lubricating equipment has also been installed.

As soon as all improvements have been completed, a formal opening will be held, Harvel Guttenfelder states.

ADDISON SMITH, Reporter TROOP No. 3

The boys had a swell time at the Scout meeting Friday night, December 13. A few games of Kelly Drill were held, led by Assistant Scoutmaster Fred Marsteller. Inspection was won by Robert Worcester of the Stag Patrol. The boys then voted in favor of holding another contest that will end the last meeting in February. Points will be given for attendance, dues, tests, or merit badges passed, and conduct. Fred Marsteller then announced that the three highest boys in the contest would be taken on a deep sea fishing trip, expenses paid.

Mr. Dale Riley, newly appointed supervisor of recreation, was the guest of the troop. He asked for Boy Scout co-operation in the use of city equipment at the city park.

There was a discussion about annual Christmas baskets to needy people of Torrance. It has been the custom of Troop 3 to collect food stuffs instead of paying dues and presenting these baskets to families who are unfortunate and will appreciate a big basket of good things to eat.

The midwinter week-end trip to Big Pines will take place again this year and everyone is looking forward to a grand time.
